Biographical Note

Jesse Blackstone (often spelled Jess) (1909–1988), was born in Melrose, MA, attended Cambridge (MA) Art School, and then studied under a wood carver in Maine. He and his father Arthur Blackstone, formed a small business of hand-carved bird models in Melrose. In 1943 the Worcester Art Museum had an exhibit, "Contemporary New England Handicrafts," that featured bird carvings by Jess and his father. After serving in WWII in Europe, Jess carved the birds he had observed in Germany, which still exist in various collections including the New Hampshire Audubon Society. Jess had joined the League of New Hampshire Craftsmen in 1940 and it proved to be a primary outlet for his carvings. He volunteered with the League and taught woodcarving and pottery as well. He soon developed a following for his carvings and had a base of regular customers. The Blackstone family moved to Pembroke, NH in 1949. Jess was also an excellent ornithologist as well as a meticulous record-keeper of the information of each carving.

After producing 8,500 to 8,750 carvings, Blackstone's production had dropped dramatically by 1980.
